

Congratulations to the Nominees for SWE's 2010 Women Engineers of the Year Awards

Six GCSD employees have been nominated by Harris for the 2010 Space Coast Society of Women Engineers (SWE) annual Women Engineers of the Year Awards. Congratulations to the nominees in each of the following categories for being recognized by their peers for their outstanding contributions!

- Nominee for Outstanding Woman Engineer: Consuela Smith*
The winner in this category has demonstrated a high level of competence, leadership and personal integrity in her job; contributed to her company's progress toward its mission; developed, or is in the process of developing, her own potential in the engineering profession or in her outside activities; and helped other women engineers develop their potential.
- Nominees for Technical Achievement Award: Catheryn Logan & Dr. Carlyn Smith*
The winner in this category has demonstrated a high level of competence, leadership and personal integrity in her job, as well as outstanding technical excellence that has resulted in significant technical accomplishments.
- Nominees for Distinguished New Woman Engineer: Jessica Beahn, Brigitte Linville-Padgett & Rye Myers*
The winner in this category has demonstrated outstanding performance in engineering and has been active in professional, technical, community, or social organizations.

Nominations for the awards were solicited from Space Coast engineering companies, government agencies, and technical organizations. Each nominee, along with a guest and the individual who nominated her, will attend an awards banquet on February 23, during which the winners will be announced.

Congratulations again to each of the nominees!
